176. Neubauer, Ad., edited by. Anecdota Oxoniensia: Texts, Documents, and Extracts chiefly from Manuscripts in the Bodleian and other Oxford Libraries, Semitic Series. Vol. I - Part IV. Mediaeval Jewish Chronicles and Chronological Notes. Bound with Vol. I Part VI which is the second part of the Medieval Jewish Chronicles section. Oxford, At the Clarendon Press, 1887, 1895. Squarish octavo, xxiv, 200 pp., additions and corrections, abridged words, books quoted in an abridged form, liii, 255 pp., abridged words, index to I and II, additions and corrections. This was originally published in salmon colored paper wraps. When I received it it had become disbound from the library binding that had housed it for the past thirty years ago. I rebound it with the original wraps bound in with a quarter pink paper covered spine over light blue paper covered boards with new endpapers added. A patch from the library binding has been used as a spine label. The front wrap from the first volume has been placed on a backing to reinforce it. It is not a perfect binding, but it is very strong and attractive in a plain way. Very Good, as described. [#10308]
